Dependable, accurate and straight forward

What I like the most about Descartes Denied Party Screening is that the site is very stable, it's never been down in almost three years I've been using it, and it's always quick to load. When working in talent acquisition, it's essential to have it ready as quickly as possible to continue with the hiring process. Being responsible with the background of our candidates, making sure there's nothing to worry about.

Top Rated for Global Sanctions Lists

All major international sanctions lists screening tool

The amount of the data/sanctions lists/BIS lists is really impressive. The UI of the tool is very easy and can be explained to an average user/non-industry analysts in minutes. It is so easy to screen even if limited data on the customer is available. It is easy to create a pdf report and save/share the results. The updates on the sanctioned entities/individuals are provided quite fast.

Effective, consistent screening

My company has integrated Descartes Denied Party Screening with our primary ERP systems, and the result has been effective, consistent screening of parties with minimal “hands-on” work. With several, separate subsidiaries, it is convenient that the subsidiaries and even sites can be segregated for easier review. Their [Descartes] team ensures that the multitude of lists are up to date and our parties are rescreened daily against the additions. Fast.

Updated screening at a reasonable rate

Descartes Denied Party Screening allows us to vet new hires, customers, end users, suppliers, and other third parties against the restricted lists of multiple countries. We are able to screen our suppliers against the debarment lists for U.S. government subcontracting. And, we leverage the system to get up-to-date country restriction information.
